THE GREAT METROPOLIS IN 1865.

It is generally conceded that at the present time we have a population of one million. On the U. S. Census of 1860, there were in New York 813,669 persons; of whom 391,522 were white males, 409,573 were white females, 5,468 were colored males, and 7,106 were colored females.

Number of marriages in a year, 3,272; number of births, 6,424; number of deaths, 25,196.

There are 9 marriages daily; there are 17 births; and there are 69 deaths.

Of the population, 429,952 were born in the United States, and 383,717 were born in foreign countries, of 38 different nationalities.

There are 54,338 dwellings, and 155,707 families. There are on an average nearly 3 families, or 15 persons to every dwelling.

The No. of manufacturing establishments in the city is--	4,259
Capital invested, -----	$60,484,307
Cost of raw material, -----	$88,564,812
Male and female hands employed, -----	88,564
Value of annual product, -----	$158,030,561

One New York publishing house runs 43 steam-presses of the largest size, and uses an average of 34,375 reams of printing-paper per annum, equivalent to 3,300,000 duodecimo volumes of 240 pages each, or 1,650,000 volumes of 480 pages each. Another house in Philadelphia sells books annually to the amount of $2,000,000, and the number of packages they send out of the city yearly is between 14,000 and 15,000.

The annual expense of lighting the city is $420,000. The New York Gas Company, operating below Grand-street, has 130 miles of mains of various sizes. The Manhattan Gas-light Company, operating above Grand-street, has 430 miles of street-mains, lights 30,000 street-lamps, and supplies gas to over 50,000 stores and dwellings, and manufactures 2,000,000,000 feet of gas.

For the distribution of Croton water, there are 290 miles of pipe laid.

The City Directory contains 152,552 names.

The number of streets, avenues, squares, places, etc., below Fifty-fourth-street, is 493.

The area of New York is about 22,000 acres.

The distance from the Battery to Fifty-fourth street is  $4\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

The number of piers on the North River is 62, and on the East River, 70: total, 132.

The number of copyrights entered during the last year, in the U. S. District Court in this city, is 1,999.

The number of Associated banks is 52, with an aggregate capital of 70 millions, besides 12 National banks.

There are 100 insurance companies, who return their assets at 33 millions of dollars.

The number of depositors in Savings banks in the state of New York was, in 1861, depositors,-----	310,698 ; deposits,-----	$67,450,379.

1862, depositors,-----	300,511 ; deposits,-----	64,083,150.

Sanitary.

Previous to establishing a good sanitary government, the annual rate of mortality was,

In London, . . . . . 1 in 20.

In Liverpool, . . . . . 1 in 28.

The rate of mortality in the same cities, with the present improved system of municipal supervision and regulation, has been,

In London, . . . . . 1 in 45.

In Liverpool, . . . . . 1 in 44 ;

while in the city of New York the death-rate has increased from 1 in 46½ in the year 1810, to 1 in 35 at the present time.

It is supposed that for every death there are 28 cases of sickness ; this would give us 700,000 cases of sickness in New York in one year. Some of our eminent physicians say that, by proper measures, this mortality could be brought down 30 per cent. ; such a reduction would save 7,000 lives and 200,000 cases of sickness during the year.

The Police.

Once a year at Brussels, medals are presented to those persons who in the course of a year have exhibited remarkable acts of courage and devotedness, by which the lives of others have been saved.

Though we have no such public system of rewards here, it is something to know that the brave, skilful men who are watching day and night our city, and rendering us an incalculable service, have many a time displayed a heroism that has commanded universal admiration, and well deserves grateful recognition.

The number of policemen in the city is 1,800. The annual cost of their support and incidental expenses is $1,836,120 67.

The foregoing list of 26 leading societies shows a total of receipts for one year, exclusive of proceeds of sales, of $2,740,795 52. Most of these societies are national in their character, and of course receive their donations from all parts of the country: let us examine a little the operations of some of our local societies, depending for their support exclusively upon the contributions of New York city.

New York Association for the Poor, -----	$36,293	38
New York Sunday-school Union, -----	27,630	00
New York and Brooklyn For. Miss. Society, ----	40,711	16

New York Female Assistance Society, -----	3,785	74
New York Ladies' Union Aid Society, -----	5,976	58

New York Bible Society, -----	16,141 95
New York Female Bible Society,-----	6,877 96
New York Port Society, -----	9,500 00
Total,-----	$248,215 55

Here are 14 leading local societies whose receipts from donations, for one year, amount to $248,215 55. Let us add to this sum, for our other organized city charities, omitting receipts from sales, from state and city appropriations, from board, etc., as much more, and we shall have, say $500,000, as the regular, annual voluntary contributions of the citizens of New York, for the support of the local benevolent associations. But how far short this falls of a fair estimate of what is given, may be inferred from such facts as these: here a New York merchant gives $30,000 to Yale College; now another gives $10,000 to a college in Syria, etc.; and there is scarcely a year in which there are not several larger sums bestowed on churches, colleges, hospitals, etc.; so that, after all, we can scarcely hope to approximate to a correct statement of what is actually contributed by the citizens of New York to the various objects of benevolence during any one year.

Take another view of the amount given to benevolence: there are 11 O. S. Presbyterian churches reported as having given to various objects $100,000; 10 New School Presbyterian churches, $75,162; 12 Reformed Dutch churches, $56,000; and 9 Baptist churches, $35,000; making a total of 42 city churches contributing in one year to benevolence the sum of $266,162. Say the remaining 174 Protestant evangelical churches contribute as much more, and we have $532,324 as the sum total given in one year by the 216 Protestant evangelical churches. What is required for the annual support of these churches, for the salaries of ministers, and for congregational purposes, must be $1,000,000.

Church-members and Church-goers.

There are in New York 31 Methodist churches who return the number of members as 9,160; 16 Reformed Dutch, 4,816 members; 20 New School Presbyterian, 7,904 members; 23 Old School Presbyterian, 6,807 members; and 19 Baptist, 6,634 members; making a total of 109 churches, with a membership of 35,321: as we have in all 216 regularly organized Protestant evangelical churches, supposing each to have a membership of 300, we should have for the whole city a total of 64,800 communicants. We estimate that these church-members represent 32,400 families, and that each of these families includes 5 persons; then we have 162,000 persons that may be reckoned as fairly within the influence and under the control of the Protestant evangelical churches of New York. Of course the regular and occasional church-goers must be twice as many more, and then we have as the Protestant church-going population, 324,000.

Rum.

The cost of rum is often said to be three quarters of the expenditures for the Police, the Department of Charities and Corrections, and the courts; the total sum required for these three items for the year, is $2,890,120 67; three quarters of this is $2,167,590 51.

We have 10,000 grog-shops: suppose the receipts of these on an average to be $500 each, we shall have five millions of dollars as the sum worse than wasted; but who shall estimate the loss of health, of property, of character, of time and of life, of body and of soul?

Aggregate valuation of property in the city and county of New York for 1864, $634,495,040.

Taxes for 1864, $13,705,092 86.

Passengers transported by the different ferry companies during the year, 56,853,500.

A person who counted the number of carriages which passed the place where he stood in Broadway during 12 hours, found it was 14,060, or about 20 each minute.

The New York city meat bill for one year is reckoned as follows, at wholesale prices:

263,229 beef cattle, 700 lbs. ea., 9½ cts. per lb., ---	$17,504,728 50
36,298 calves, at $7 25, -----	263,060 50
522,311 sheep and lambs, at $4 25, -----	2,219,821 75
1,096,773 hogs, at $9 75, -----	10,693,586 75
Total, -----	$30,681,147 50

Total number of fires in the city of New York last year, 268; number of alarms, 243: total losses, $1,191,922.

There are 265 licensed junk-shops; 33 licensed intelligence-offices; 64 licensed pawnbrokers; 209 licensed second-hand dealers; 397 licensed stages; 431 special coaches; 501 hackney coaches; 450 city cars; 6,381 public carts; 631 express wagons; 497 dirt carts; and 773 venders.

There are 580 tenement-houses containing 85 persons each.

"	193	"	"	111	"

Total, 873

86,086

By a late report of Capt. Lord of the Sanitary police,

"The total number of tenement-houses is given at 12,374, with a population of 401,376, of whom 22,095 live in cellars, a subterraneous population large enough for a small city in itself. A little more than two thirds of the houses, namely, 8,546, with a population of 253,901, are provided with good means of escape in case of fire; while 3,801 houses, inhabited by 125,380 persons, are deficient in this respect. The ventilation of 8,126 houses, containing 238,113 persons, is reported as good, and 4,221 houses, containing 141,168 persons, are badly ventilated. The following is an exhibit of the number of cubic feet to each person:

			No. of Houses.	Population.
Having from	100 to	300	1,909	62,998
"	300 to	400	3,031	102,348
"	400 to	500	2,560	78,751
"	500 to	600	1,661	48,342
"	600 to	700	1,100	31,752
"	700 to	800	798	22,281

Total,			12,347	379,281

“Of slaughter-houses we have the following exhibit: The number of slaughter-houses in the city is 187, of which 40 are reported as in bad condition. The number of beeves slaughtered per week is given as 2,555; of small stock, 9,362; of swine, 13,205, total per week, 25,222; grand total per year, 1,311,544. Akin to slaughter-houses are those sinks of putridity, fat-boiling establishments, of which there are no less than 80 in New York.”

Education.

Truant children: The officers detailed to look after truant children last year, received 5,613 names; 70 could not be found; of the remainder they report as follows:

1,968 were reported without cause.

522 withdrawn from school.

238 transferred to other schools.

763 kept at home by their parents.

316 sick.

129 kept at home on account of poverty.

3,092 have been reformed by the exertions of the officers so as to attend school regularly.

159 have been arrested and taken to school.

156 have been arrested and sent to the Juvenile Asylum.

From the last Report of the Board of Education, we learn that the whole number taught during the year in the schools under its control was 208,084, with an average attendance of 88,000.

In parochial schools, private schools, colleges, etc., there must be 20,000 more, making 108,000 regularly at school: of the 100,000 who only attend school occasionally, 25,000 manage to get along with an incomplete training at a low average of respectability; 25,000 are detained at home by sickness and poverty; 25,000 are sent out to work; and the remaining 25,000 are among the vagrants, beggars, pilferers, and rowdies.

The Central Park

is an area of 843 acres; excluding 142 acres covered by the two Croton reservoirs, there are about 700 acres which properly belong to the Park: there have been completed 7 miles of carriage-roads, 6 miles of saddle-roads, and 20 miles of walks: the number of visitors last year was 4,327,409 persons.

The cost of the land was -----$4,815,671 60

The cost of construction to date, ----- 3,915,546 27

Total cost up to last report, -----$8,731,217 87

There have been, up to last report, 320,846 trees and shrubs of all kinds planted; number planted last year, 79, 904.

The sum expended last year in the construction and maintenance of the Central Park, $504,335 60.

Greenwood Cemetery

Opened in 1842, and at that time included 200 acres of land; several plats since added, making altogether about 400 acres, costing nearly $235,000: the aggregate sum paid for labor in and about the cemetery, nearly $1,000,000. The number of interments up to the last year, 101,591; increasing at the rate of 7,000 and more a year.

Immigrants in 1864.

The official statement of the Commissioners of Emigration, Castle-garden, New York, places the number of immigrants arrived at that place during the year 1864, at 182,916; showing an increase over the year 1863 of 25,000, and being as large a number as for any year since 1854.

New York Post-office.

A city paper of Tuesday, Jan. 31, 1865, says, Within the past ten days an exact record has been kept of the weight of mail matter forwarded from the New York Post-office over internal routes. The amount was 418,744 lbs., or more than 20 tons per day. It is estimated that, including foreign steamer mails and all other matter, the clerks in this office receive and send out about 45 tons per day.

American Physique.

A surgeon in New York examined 8,700 recruits for the army, of whom 4,538 were Americans, 1,694 Irish, 1,453 Germans, 315 English and Scotch, 135 French, and 545 belonging to twenty-six other nations. He made a strict examination to determine whether there was any foundation for the frequent affirmation of the English journals, that the physical man in America was deteriorating. The Americans in New York city were of course not above the average of Americans physically, yet his examination puts them ahead. In stature the American-born ranked the highest, the English next, the Irish next, the Germans next, and the French last. In regard to their physical conformation, he divided the recruits into four classes, and found the Americans to possess the highest rate of prime physique. Of American-born recruits, 47.5 per cent. had a prime physique, the Germans 40.75 per cent., and the Irish 35 per cent. He arrived at the conclusion that no race can show a larger proportion of osseous and muscular development; and he ascribes it not to race, but to the diffused blessings of meat and drink.

Public Instruction.

During the last year, 208,084 children were educated by the city, and for this purpose $1,990,639 were expended, or nearly $2,000,000 paid out for popular education.

We would that all our citizens visit these schools frequently, and examine their arrangements, and see what is done for the boys and girls, who will so soon enter into the activities and responsibilities of maturity, and encourage the faithful laborious teachers, who are seeking to give their pupils such an outfit and preparation as will insure them an honorable, useful, and prosperous career.

A Good Movement.

BUREAU OF EMPLOYMENT FOR DISABLED AND DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.

At the beginning of the war, the patriotic devotion of our young men carried many a one into the army whom prudential considerations might with great propriety have restrained. Thousands too left lucrative employments to volunteer, and were cheered and applauded by the whole country. It was not supposed, however, that every position could remain open, or the business interests of the country stand still until they should return. Where a good clerk or mechanic enlisted, the merchant or manufacturer filled his place with a poorer one, and went on as before. Now when the volunteer returns a veteran, he finds his old place occupied. He has not been improving his condition pecuniarily, and perhaps he has left on some bloody field an eye or hand or foot; yet at home every one has been pushing ahead and growing rich. His army experience, perhaps, has made a better man of him. The hardships of the march have made old discomforts appear light. The early hours and regular exercises of the camp have toned down and disciplined his character. He has learned to obey orders and perform disagreeable tasks with alacrity. Yet this very training has unfitted him to push his own way; he is disposed to wait for orders, and not to march till the command be given. Perhaps too he is one of the unfortunate maimed and disabled, and thus a sensitiveness—a feeling of helplessness—oppresses and unmans. He finds his old occupation gone; he has to begin again. He is loaded with all the disadvantages of youth, with none of its hope and buoyancy.

There is a sense of justice in our people which will not allow such men to be thrown aside because of the sacrifices they have already made in a noble cause. There is a strong desire to find employment and make places for our returned and returning veterans. The Sanitary Commission is endeavoring to aid in this patriotic work, by establishing, through the Protective War Claim Association, a "Bureau of Employment for Disabled and Discharged Soldiers and Sailors." Lieut.-gen. Scott is the president of the association, and Messrs. Howard Potter, William E. Dodge, Jr., and Theodore Roosevelt are the managing directors. These gentlemen invite information, suggestions, and applications for employes in every class and field of labor. They particularly wish to provide occupation for maimed and disabled soldiers. The services of the Bureau are of course gratuitous. We advise our readers to give to this subject their earnest attention and their hearty co-operation. All communications and applications should be addressed to the Secretary of the Bureau, at No. 35 Chambers-street, New York.

The organization and early management of this department will be under the direct control of Col. Charles C. Nott, who has done brave work in the department of the Gulf, while in command of the 176th New York Volunteers.

He has recently returned from a long imprisonment in Texas. His thorough experience in our volunteer service, and knowledge of the class of men seeking employment, renders him eminently well fitted for this position.

The last Report says, The wants in which our institution originated are perpetually renewed. The work of rescuing, training, and raising up the poor and erring children of a great metropolis is never done. But if the field is boundless and the labor endless, it is far from fruitless. Every year has its harvest ; every year accumulates proofs of the wisdom that founded the Juvenile Asylum. They are seen in that crowning result, the ever-increasing number of prosperous and well-conditioned men and women who have passed through its discipline. During the year 1863, we have had an average of 559 children constantly under instruction, while more than sixteen hundred have shared, to some extent, in the advantages of the institution. The whole number received since the organization has been 9,467.

The age of the children ordinarily ranges from 9 to 15 years, there being but a small proportion younger or older.

The Western Agent has lately seen or heard from 1,000 of those formerly under our care, and has experienced much pleasure in witnessing their improved appearance and present prosperity. Nearly three hundred of the boys, who have been settled in the West, are now engaged in the service of their country in the United States Army.

Books printed at the Bible House, 1,473,709; books printed in foreign lands, 118,487; total of books printed during the year, 1,592,196.

Books issued from the depository, 1,425,160 volumes; books distributed in foreign lands, 75,418 volumes; total of issues during the year, 1,500,578 volumes.

Aggregate issues during the last three years, (of the war,) 3,778,119 volumes, exclusive of foreign distribution, valued at $848,360 61. This number exceeds the issues of the first twenty-eight years of the Society, 1816 to 1844 inclusive, by 198,859 volumes.

Total number of volumes issued from the organization of the Society in 1816, forty-eight years, exclusive of foreign distribution, except for the past year, 18,854,296.

Of the Bible Society Record, 413,800 copies were issued; average monthly circulation, 34,483.

Donations by the Society in grants of money and books, $181,144 83.

Thirty-eight Agents, of whom seven are in the foreign field, have been employed during the year. Twelve new Agents were appointed. Besides these, colporteurs and distributors have been engaged, and thousands of local unpaid agents in the service of our Auxiliaries in this country.

The Army and Navy have been freely supplied through the United States Christian Commission, Auxiliary Bible Societies, Agents, Chaplains, and other distributing agencies. Besides the very large circulation by local Bible societies, specific grants have been made by the Board of Managers for soldiers, prisoners of war, etc., of 362,802 volumes, to the United States Christian Commission, and distributed by it without cost to this Society. The total number of Bibles, Testaments, and parts of Scripture granted for the army and navy within the past two years is 766,075 volumes.

To the Freedmen of the South in schools and camps, 18,494 volumes have been granted, and the demand is constantly increasing. Thousands of colored troops have been supplied, with the armies to which they belong.

To the seceded states, during the year, grants have been made of 217,824 volumes, and sales of 40,054 volumes: total, 257,878. These books are forwarded by flag of truce, with the full permission of the government and military authorities.

FOREIGN WORK. Five new Agents have been appointed for the work during the year, making seven in all, besides colporteurs, of which there are now about thirty.

The Scriptures are being published abroad in various languages; in Italy, Germany, Russia, Turkey, India, China, the Sandwich islands, besides Scriptures in Arabic for the blind in Egypt.

In funds, $60,063 92 have been expended on the foreign work, besides what has been done in the Bible House for the foreign department.

The Society publishes books at home and abroad, in about forty-six languages and dialects.

New York City Mission.

OFFICE, 10 BIBLE HOUSE, FOURTH AVENUE.

1. DESIGN. To give the gospel to the needy Field: The population of the city, resident and transient, immigrants, and seamen. Management: The business of the Society is conducted by a Board of one hundred or more Directors, chosen annually from the various churches. Agencies: The Finance and Agency Committee, A. R. Wetmore, Chairman, appoint the Missionaries and raise the funds.

2. MISSIONARIES. For thirty years missionaries have been employed, who devote all their time to Christian effort, distributing the Scriptures and religious truth in the different languages, holding meetings, relieving the suffering, visiting the sick, befriending the widow and fatherless, and in every suitable way promoting the best interests of the community.

3. MEETINGS. The missionaries meet twice a week for prayer, conference, and discussion; and every month, under the direction of the Board, a public meeting is held in some church, where facts and results are stated by the missionaries.

4. MISSION-STATIONS. Ten are established in the more destitute localities; in these rooms—generally the upper floor of a dwelling or warehouse, capable of accommodating from one hundred to two hundred persons—religious services, Bible-classes, and Sabbath-schools are regularly held; and besides these, there are many prayer-meetings held in tenement-houses: in all, at least sixty meetings are gathered weekly throughout the city, principally among those who do not ordinarily attend the sanctuary.

5. FEMALE MISSIONARIES. Under the supervision of the Ward missionaries, women of appropriate age, of well-known discretion and zeal, are engaged in systematic visitation from house to house, reading the Scriptures with mothers and children, circulating tracts, instructing the ignorant, etc.

6. RESULTS. Of the thirty years that have elapsed since the appointment of missionaries, 31,247,072 tracts in English and other languages distributed; 34,176 Bibles supplied to the destitute; 40,080 Testaments supplied to children and others; 140,660 volumes lent from ward libraries; 86,040 children gathered into Sabbath, and 11,905 into day schools; 6,607 persons gathered into Bible-classes; 73,361 persons induced to attend church; 32,016 temperance pledges obtained; 58,548 religious meetings held; 1,397 backsliders reclaimed.

Hundreds of thousands of visits have been made, many to individuals not reached by any other agency; and thousands have given credible evidence of the great change, and have been received into churches, and a vast amount of good has been accomplished in many ways.

Besides these places, the missionaries hold occasional meetings in many others. Sometimes the meeting is entirely under the care of the missionary, and at other times the missionary coöperates with the laborers of the Sabbath-schools and the churches.

In prisons, hospitals, barracks, asylums, refuges, homes, etc., the city missionary is always ready to conduct religious services as may be desirable.

Among the operatives in the Bible House and the Tract House, city missionaries, in conjunction with those immediately interested, have attended noonday prayer-meetings for many years.

A WORD TO THE CHURCHES OF NEW YORK.

A large meeting was held at the Madison-square Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, January 17th, to consider the pressing wants of City Evangelization, at which the following Resolutions were adopted :

1. That this meeting, while devoutly thankful for what has been accomplished by City Missions, feels urgently called upon to increase and extend these beneficent operations.

2. That it be respectfully suggested to the pastors that they preach on the subject of City Missions as soon as practicable.

3. That it is desirable that the churches set apart one service—say the last regular prayer-meeting in each month—to consider their obligations to the outlying thousands needing the means of grace, and to pray for the divine blessing on their efforts to save them.

4. That the present condition of our city, and the facilities of access to the homes of the people, demand a great increase in the number of missionaries, male and female, that the whole population may be faithfully and regularly visited.

5. That, considering the wealth and liberality of the community, and the large additions that have been made to other benevolent contributions, it is not too much to ask that the cause of City Missions shall exhibit an increase of receipts in some degree commensurate with its claims and the means and the responsibilities of the great metropolis.

6. That a committee of five pastors and five laymen be appointed by this meeting to confer with the City Mission and Tract Society in regard to the coöperation of the churches.

In accordance with the last resolution, the undersigned were appointed a committee to carry out the views of the meeting. Having conferred with the City Mission, as instructed by the meeting, they now urge upon the churches of New York the duty of helping vigorously in the work of evangelizing the heathen at our doors. They believe that no object of pious regard should stand before this work in the estimation, sympathy, and coöperation of all Christians in this city. They beg that collections for this cause may be systematically taken up in every church, that committees coöperative may be appointed in each congregation, and that pastors may feel it a duty to call the special attention of their charges to this subject of first importance.

The city is a vast strong-hold of Satan, and the hosts of sin within it are to be met and vanquished by Christian valor and heroism. Missionaries of strong nerve, sound sense, and ardent piety must be sent into every alley; the gospel must be borne to every garret and cellar; mission-stations must be erected in every district for the converts as they shall be gathered in, and Sunday-schools established for the children who run wild in our streets. The churches cannot do this work singly. There must be union and a common channel through which the force of the churches shall flow. The City Mission already existing is the channel we recommend to the churches, a mission well-trying, zealous, faithful, and unsectarian. Its funds must be quintupled before it can take hold of this work with any thing like the grasp which its importance demands. In this city of a million of inhabitants, it now only supports thirty-seven missionaries, at an expense of $22,000 a year. It should have $100,000 a year at least, and one hundred missionaries. We hope that this work will henceforth be woven into the very texture of all our churches, and form part of their life.

New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor.

39 BIBLE HOUSE, ASTOR PLACE.

PRESIDENT, James Brown.

VICE-PRESIDENTS, James Boorman, Horatio Allen, James Lenox, A. R. Wetmore, John C. Green.

TREASURER, Robert B. Minturn.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY AND AGENT, Robert M. Hartley.

RECORDING SECRETARY, Joseph B. Collins.

The design of this association is the elevation of the moral and physical condition of the indigent, and so far as is compatible with this design, the relief of their necessities.

The city is divided into small sections, and a visitor assigned to each, whose duty it is to look after those needing his care and attention.

If you meet with persons in distress, refer them to the nearest City Missionary or Poor Visitor, who will investigate the case, and dispose of it as may be found wise and practicable. If you see a homeless innocent young girl, direct her to the Girl's Lodging House, 205 Canal-st., rear. If there is a poor friendless boy, who would like a good home, put him on the way to the Juvenile Asylum, 71 West 13th-street.

If you learn of sickness, call upon the Dispensary Physician. If a father or a mother be taken away, and the surviving parent needs a place for the children, there is the Half Orphan Asylum, Tenth-st. near Sixth-av. If you find children deprived of both parents, there is the Leake and Watts Orphan House open to them.

The shameless beggar, the incorrigible vagrant, and the barefaced impostor should be directed to No. 1 Bond-st., that they may find admission to the public institutions provided for such.

A careful examination of the list of societies will show you that there is hardly any class of persons, or any form of suffering, or any condition of want, that is not recognized and cared for in one way or other.

All nationalities and all religious creeds are represented in this array of benevolent organizations, and each applicant for relief may be appropriately referred to that to which he claims to belong.

Applications are not unfrequently made at unreasonable times and hours by professedly homeless, needy persons for immediate relief, or for the means of procuring lodging for the night, and those applied to are often at a loss how to dispose of such cases. Generally such persons are impostors, and artfully urge their appeal under circumstances which preclude investigation and are most likely to induce relief. If unknown, they should not be aided, but sent to one of the nearest Station Houses, which are always open for their reception. The following is a list of the Station Houses in the different parts of the city.

Tenement Houses.

All dwellings having four families and upwards are put in this class. Of course there is considerable variety in the condition of the houses and the occupants, ranging from the respectable neighborhood, where clerks, cartmen, and mechanics live in comparative comfort, to the miserable, dingy, stifling courts and alleys, where the great multitude are huddled in the closest quarters.

The dimensions and statistics of two of the medium sort of this class of houses may help to some understanding of the matter.

1. Is a six-story brick, 25 by 50 feet, hall 4 feet, running through from front to rear on the first floor, with two suites of apartments on either side, the larger rooms being 9 ft. 4 in. by 15 ft. 4 in., and the smaller, 8 ft. 2 in. by 9 ft. 4 in. There are accommodations here for four families on each floor, making, for the whole house, room for twenty-four families. Sometimes you will find five adults and three children living in one of these apartments, but more commonly two adults and two or three children. An exact census of this house at one time showed 20 families, of whom 2 were Scotch, 3 German, and 15 Irish, containing 42 adults and 32 children. Four apartments were unoccupied at the time.

The rent of these twenty-four apartments averages six dollars a month; that is, for the whole building, one hundred and forty-four dollars a month, or seventeen hundred and twenty-eight dollars a year.

2. Is a three-story brick, 25 ft. by 30 ft., with an alley-way off the first floor, as an entrance to a house in the rear, the rear house being 25 ft. square. In the front house the living-rooms are 10 ft. 3 in. by 16 ft. 10 in., and the sleeping-rooms are 7 ft. 10 in. by 8 ft. 3 in. In the rear house the living-rooms are 11 ft. 3 in. by 14 ft. 5 in., and the sleeping-rooms 7 ft. 8 in. by 8 ft. 3 in.

In the front house there are five families, of whom one is German and four are Irish, containing ten adults and six children; two men are absent at the seat of war. In the rear house are six families, of whom one is Scotch, two are German, and three are Irish, containing 14 adults and 14 children. The rent of the two houses is fifty-five dollars per month, or six hundred and sixty dollars per year.

Let it be remembered we have here given two specimens of what may properly be considered the medium class of tenement houses, and as you have seen the limited dimensions of the rooms, the narrow stairways and halls, and consider that the bedrooms are dark and unventilated, that many of the living-rooms are never visited by the cheerful sunshine, what must you think of the sad condition of the virtuous poor and their unfortunate children, who are obliged to put up with accommodations far inferior to these, and be crowded in with the intemperate, the profane, the filthy, and the abandoned, exposed to all that is deleterious to health and morality.

Let us encourage every attempt at public reform in securing wise sanitary laws, and an enlightened municipal government that shall coöperate with all humane and Christian efforts to purify the pest-houses of disease and the reeking dens of moral iniquity, and give the honest laboring man a chance to live and breathe in Christian respectability and comfort.

Even with all that is appalling in the condition of the lower class of tenement houses, and all that is forbidding in the best of them, the Christian laborer, going about as a brother, finds ready access to the poor people, whom he visits with words of sympathy and deeds of charity; and when their confidence and respect are gained, and friendly relations established between them, the way is open for the institution of a neighborhood prayer-meeting, the circulation of good books, and the appointment of other means for the social and moral elevation and improvement of parents and children, young and old.

Many encouraging facts might be given, illustrating the temporal and spiritual benefits resulting to the occupants of tenement houses from the faithful efforts put forth in their behalf. The following brief narratives must suffice.

A TENEMENT HOUSE IN THE EIGHTEENTH WARD.

Twenty years ago, in an apartment in a row of tenement houses, was found an Irish Protestant family, consisting of father, mother, and six children. The room was one into which the sunshine never came, and but little light; entirely destitute of furniture, save the chests, with which they had but lately come from the old country. The mother, a handsome, bright, active woman of good natural abilities and a fair scholar, was seeking employment: she could not beg; she had too much pride for that.

The father was giving himself up to drink, and going to destruction as fast as possible.

Work was given to the mother, who proved to be an excellent seamstress, industrious and prompt: the temporal wants of the family were cared for in every suitable way; efforts were put forth at various times to bring the erring father to his senses and start him in some business, but with only partial and temporary success.

The mother, mortified and disappointed at her companion's failure and disgrace, often came to us for Christian sympathy and advice, and went back again to her cheerless home and her unceasing toil with new courage and hope.

Often, as she says, a good, kind word kept her heart up for a whole day, and so she kept on in her lowly path, faint, yet pursuing.

Years have passed away, and to-day how do we find them? The mother, through twenty years of care and sorrow and privation and hard labor, has preserved her health and spirit, and looks fresh and active yet.

The sons and daughters have grown up imitating the mother's industry and good habits, have had good employment, and fair opportunities for improvement.

Two are married respectably; all live in comfortable houses, move in good society, and are much esteemed. Several of them are members of churches and active in the Sabbath-school. The father attends church, and generally conducts himself with propriety, and is supported by the family.

The mother said not long ago, in reviewing her history and speaking of the wonderful goodness of God, "I find it much easier to pay seventeen dollars a month now for rent, than I did twenty years ago to pay four."

Self-help is the best help for the poor.

A TENEMENT HOUSE IN THE NINTH WARD.

Hic jacet sepultus vivus qui timet viveri vel mori.

Over the door of a poor room in the garret of an old frame tenement house, that once had been a respectable country residence in the village of Greenwich, we read the inscription which stands at the head of this article. It was placed there by the occupant of the apartment, an Italian, born in Genoa, liberally educated, and designed for the priesthood; but not satisfied with his father's plans, and excited by what he heard of this country, he came here. Seeking employment, now as a teacher, sometimes as a clerk, and again as a laborer, and apparently without any fault of his failing in every thing, his troubles seemed nearly overwhelming to a disposition naturally sensitive and shrinking, and he easily yielded to despondency.

His religion brought him no comfort, and it can easily be seen how such a man, away from home, from parents and friends, should sometimes feel as he did when he traced in his own language these words on the whitewashed framework over the entrance to his humble abode.

By an easy translation, the lines will read thus: "Here lies buried alive one who is afraid either to live or to die."

But mercy was in store for him: by the patient ministry of Christian love, by sympathy, instruction, and aid, his soul was gradually enlightened and led into larger discoveries of the fathomless ocean of divine grace, so that he could unshrinkingly take Jesus as his only and all-sufficient Priest and Sacrifice, and rest upon him for time and eternity.

As he went on studying the word of God, reading the evidences of Christianity, and attending the means of grace, his mental activity was quickened and his spiritual desires were enlarged. Sometimes he would yield to the depression of spirits to which his temperament particularly exposed him, and sickness and poverty and disappointment often proved sore trials to his peace and enjoyment.

But it was not long before we saw the old inscription give way to the following:

"Brevi spatii spem longam"—short space, long hope. It was the same mean, cramped, close quarters that the man still occupied, but the soul expatiated in a larger liberty; time and circumstance might limit and contract the earthly estate, but faith opened the door of hope to an inheritance incorruptible, undefiled, and that fadeth not away.

The soul of charity is charity for the soul.

Hope for our Country.

Only let Christianity and education be universally diffused, let intelligence and virtue characterize the people of our land, and we may continue to welcome the immigrants from foreign shores without any fear of the result.

Character of the English Peasantry.

Mr. Cobden, in a late speech on English and American affairs, at Rochdale, drew the following sketch of the masses in England.

“I have travelled in most civilized countries, and I say that the mass of the people in this country don’t compare as favorably with the mass of the people in other countries as I should wish. I find in other countries a greater number of people with property than there are in England.~ I don’t know a Protestant country in the world where the mass of the people are so illiterate as the mass of the people in England. These are not bad tests of the condition of the people. It is no use talking of your army or navy, of your exports or imports. It is no use telling me that a small portion of the people are exceedingly well off. I want to bring the test to a comparison of the majority of the people of this country against the majority of any other country. I say it with some knowledge of foreign countries, that we don’t compare favorably in that way. The English peasantry has not a parallel on the face of the earth. I know no other peasantry but that of England which is entirely divorced from the land. There is no other country in the world where you will not find men holding the plough and turning up the furrow of their own freehold. You will not find that in England. I don't want any revolution or agrarian outrages to change this. But I find that, wherever I go, the condition of the people is apt generally to be pretty much in accordance with the power they have to take care of themselves. If you have a country where the people have no political power, and another country where they have, they will be treated with more consideration, will have greater advantages, will be better educated, and will have a better chance of obtaining property in the latter case, than in a country where they have no chance of having the political franchise."

Commerce of New York.

ARRIVALS AT THE PORT OF NEW YORK DURING 1864.

Mr. Andrew R. Trotter, the very efficient boarding-officer of the U. S. Revenue Barge-office, Whitehall, has kindly furnished us with the following totals of arrivals at this port from foreign ports during the past year, showing a decrease as compared with 1863 of two hundred and seventy-three sails. We do not give the nationalities of the vessels arriving during 1864, for the reason that a large number of Americans are temporarily sailing under foreign flags.

Vessels.	1863.	1864.
Steamships,-----	364-----	402
Ships,-----	774-----	588
Barks,-----	1,238-----	1,143
Brigs,-----	1,695-----	1,578
Schooners,-----	1,011-----	1,098
Total,-----	5,082-----	4,809

The number of passengers arriving during 1864 was 198,342.

Preach the Gospel to every Creature.

Sin brings misery; it makes man wretched. The gospel is a remedy for his wretchedness. It can purify his heart, elevate his character and his aims, and remove many of those ills to which humanity is heir in this world; it can animate his hopes and brighten his prospects for the next, and support him in the trying hour of death. Where the gospel is in its purity, there is liberty, civil and religious; there the clouds of ignorance and the mists of superstition are chased away by the cheering rays of the Sun of righteousness; there human life is estimated according to its real value; there the life, property, and persons of the people are safe; there woman fills her proper sphere; there no toilsome pilgrimages are made—the sick and infirm and aged are not forsaken by their unfeeling friends; there none are burned in the fires of Moloch, horrid king, besmeared with blood; and there none are crushed beneath the wheels of a fierce and cruel Juggernaut. Where the gospel is, there is intelligence, there is industry; there the arts and sciences flourish; there are humane and benevolent institutions ; there is sympathy for the distressed ; there are the Sabbath and the sanctuary ; there the young are trained up in the fear of God ; there the inquiring are pointed to Christ ; there the sick and afflicted are supported by the grace of God ; there the dying depart in a joyful hope of a blessed immortality ; there earth is sweetened and heaven is enjoyed in anticipation ; and there, at death, believers enter upon the possession of their promised inheritance, and go to dwell for ever in the mansions which Jesus Christ has gone to prepare for them that love him. Blessed gospel ! How should we prize it, and how zealous and constant should be our efforts to spread it over the world. Go, preach the gospel to every creature.

Mission Stations.

It has always been the business of the City Missionary to coöperate with all Christian ministers and churches in his field, and to invite the people to attend the regular places of worship near them. But the migration of churches from the lower and other parts of the city, and the changes that have taken place in the character of the population remaining, have gradually led to the establishment of what are usually denominated Mission Stations.

These are generally parts of dwellings or stores, hired for the purpose, and plainly fitted up and furnished, where the preaching of the gospel, the Sabbath-school, and other religious and social services are maintained.

In the First ward, such has been the success of the enterprise, that great inconvenience is experienced on account of the limited accommodations, and there is an urgent demand for a more commodious room, which it is very difficult to find.

Are there not owners of property in the vicinity of the Battery who would give a house and lot to the City Mission, that might, through the liberality of others like minded, be converted into a hall for the purposes and uses of religion and benevolence?

We have Memorial churches, such as the "Wainwright Memorial" and the "Anthon Memorial;" why may we not soon have mission houses, with inscriptions upon them that will speak of the virtues of some honored pastor or other representative of the church of Christ, either living or dead?

May we not appropriately urge this matter upon the public spirited, enterprising merchants of New York?

Their well-known sagacity might easily discover economical reasons for encouraging a city missionary work that is shown to be effective in restraining vice and preventing crime, as it reforms and elevates and saves men, and trains children in the principles of truth and goodness. All experience proves the great pecuniary value of those silent yet powerful influences which mould character, and make men law-abiding, temperate, honest, and intelligent.

Hoping that attention may be drawn to the great need of mission stations, we may suggest as models for the examination of those interested, the following chapels, belonging to different denominations and of various dimensions and appearance.

The Duane Meth. Epis. Church, Hudson-st. n. Spring-st.

The Irish Pres. Church, Greene-st. n. Canal-st.

The United States.

A FEW FACTS IN RELATION TO ITS TERRITORY, POPULATION, AND PROGRESS.

I. The territorial area of the United States at the peace of 1783, then bounded west by the Mississippi river, was 820,680 square miles, about four times that of France, which is stated to be 207,145, exclusive of Algeria. The purchase from France of Louisiana, in 1804, added to this area 899,680 square miles. Purchases from Spain and from Mexico, and the Oregon treaty with England, added the further quantity of 1,215,907 square miles; making the total present territory 2,936,166 square miles, or 1,879,146,240 acres.

Of this immense area, possessing a great variety of climate and culture, so large a portion is fertile that it has been steadily absorbed by the rapidly increased population. In May last there remained undisposed of, belonging to the government of the United States, 964,901,625 acres.

To prevent any confusion of boundaries, the lands are carefully surveyed and allotted by the government, and are then granted gratuitously to actual settlers, or sold for prices not exceeding

$1 25 per acre to purchasers other than settlers. It appears by the Report of the Commissioner of the General Land-office, that the quantity surveyed and ready for sale in September, 1862, was 135,142,999 acres. The report also states that the recent discoveries of rich and extensive gold-fields in some of the unsurveyed portions; are rapidly filling the interior with a population whose necessities require the speedy survey and disposition of large additional tracts. The immediate survey is not, however, of vital importance, as the first occupant practically gains the preëmptive claim to the land after the survey is completed. The cardinal, the great continental fact, so to speak, is this: that the whole of this vast body of land is freely open to gratuitous occupation, without delay or difficulty of any kind.

II. The population of the United States, as shown by the census of 1860, was 31,445,080; of which number 26,975,575 were white, and 4,441,766 black.

The increase of population since the establishment of the government has been as follows:

1790-----	3,929,827,
1800-----	5,305,937,	increase	35.02	per cent.
1810-----	7,239,814,	"	36.45	"
1820-----	9,638,191,	"	33.13	"
1830-----	12,866,020,	"	33.49	"
1840-----	17,069,453,	"	32.67	"
1850-----	23,191,876,	"	35.87	"
1860-----	31,445,080,	"	35.59	"

This rate of progress, especially since 1820, is owing in part to immigration from foreign countries.

There arrived in ten years,

From 1820 to 1830, -----	244,490
From 1830 to 1840, -----	552,000
From 1840 to 1850, -----	1,558,300
From 1850 to 1860, -----	2,707,624
Total, -----	5,062,414

Being a yearly average of 126,560 for the last forty years, and 270,762 for the last ten years.

The proportions of the whole number of 5,062,414 arriving from foreign countries in the forty years from 1820 to 1860, were as follows :

From Ireland, -----	967,366
From England, -----	302,665
From Scotland, -----	47,800
From Wales, -----	7,935
From Great Britain and Ireland, ---	1,425,018	2,750,784
From Germany, -----	1,546,976
From Sweden, -----	36,129
From Denmark and Norway, -----	5,540	1,588,145
From France, -----	208,063
From Italy, -----	11,302
From Switzerland, -----	37,732
From Spain, -----	16,245
From British America, -----	117,142
From China, (in California almost exclusively,) -----	41,443
From all other countries, or unknown, ---	291,558	723,485
Total, -----		5,062,414

It is not ascertainable how many have returned to foreign countries, but they probably do not exceed a million.

Mr. Kennedy, the experienced Superintendent of the Census, in the Compend published in 1862, at page 7, estimates the population of 1870 at 42,318,432, and of 1880 at 56,450,241.

The rate of progress of the population of the United States has much exceeded that of any of the European nations. The experienced statisticians in the present Congress can readily furnish the figures precisely showing the comparative rate.

The population of France in

1801-----	27,349,003	1841-----	34,230,178
1821-----	30,461,875	1851-----	35,283,170
1831-----	32,569,223	1861-----	37,472,132

Being about 37 per cent. in the 60 years. It does not include Algeria, which has a European population of 192,746.

The population of Prussia has increased since 1816 as follows :

1816-----	10,319,993	1849-----	16,296,483
1822-----	11,664,133	1858-----	17,672,609
1834-----	13,038,970	1861-----	18,491,220
1840-----	14,928,503

Being at the rate of 79 per cent. in 45 years.

The population of England and Wales was, in 1801-----	9,156,171	1841-----	16,035,198

1811-----	10,454,529	1851-----	18,054,170
1821-----	12,172,664	1861-----	20,227,746
1831-----	14,051,986

Showing an increase of 121 per cent. in 60 years, against an increase in the United States in 60 years of 593 per cent.

III. The natural and inevitable result of this great increase of population, enjoying an ample supply of fertile land, is seen in a corresponding advance in the material wealth of the people of the United States. For the purpose of state taxation, the values of their real and personal property are yearly assessed by officers appointed by the states. The assessment does not include large amounts of property held by religious, educational, charitable, and other associations exempted by law from taxation, nor any public property of any description. In actual practice, the real property is rarely assessed for more than two thirds of its cash value, while large amounts of personal property, being easily concealed, escape assessment altogether.

The assessed value of that portion of property which is thus actually taxed increased as follows: In 1791, (estimated,) $750,000,000; 1816, (estimated,) $1,800,000,000; 1850, (official valuation,) $7,135,780,228; 1860, (official valuation,) $16,159,616,068, showing an increase in the last decade alone of $9,023,835,840.

The following is the eastward tonnage of all classes of merchandise—coal on the Pennsylvania road excepted—for five years, 1859 to 1863, transported on the New York canals and over the New York Central, Erie, and Pennsylvania railroads:

1859-----3,613,000 tons.	1862-----6,083,000 tons.
1860-----4,734,000 tons.	1863-----6,290,000 tons.
1861-----5,180,000 tons.

The total tonnage moved on the same routes, during the same years, was as follows:

1859-----6,239,000 tons.	1862-----10,197,000 tons.
1860-----7,736,000 tons.	1863-----10,595,000 tons.
1861-----8,015,000 tons.

Philanthropic Results of the War to February, 1864.

Contributions from states, counties, towns, etc., for aid and relief of soldiers and their families, and for purposes of national defence, -----	$187,209,608 62
Contributions for care and comfort of soldiers, ----	24,044,865 96
Contributions for sufferers in Europe, etc., -----	380,140 74
Contributions for freedmen, white refugees, etc., -	639,644 13
Total, -----	$212,274,259 45

National Debt, February, 1865.

The National Debt, as last reported, was as follows :

Aggregate debt bearing interest in coin, -----	$1,087,556,438
Aggregate debt bearing interest in lawful currency, -----	608,570,952
Debt on which interest has ceased, -----	350,570
Legal tender debt, (no interest,) -----	433,160,569
Fractional currency, -----	24,096,913
Total, -----	$2,153,735,442
Total interest, -----	93,131,901
Amount in Treasury, -----	10,250,958

On the 31st of October, 1864, the total debt was $2,017,099,515, the increase since that date being $136,635,927 ; the increase for the period being at the rate of over $40,000,000 per month, or about $500,000,000 per annum.

Bibles and Testaments donated by the American Bible Society, -----	$72,114 83
Value of volunteer delegates' services, -----	169,920 00
Value of railroad, steamboat, and other transportation facilities, -----	106,765 00
Value of telegraph facilities from Maine to California, -----	26,450 00
Value of rents of warehouses and offices donated to the Commission, -----	6,750 00
Total value for 1864, -----	$2,882,347 86
Total values received by the Commission in 1863, ---	916,837 65
“ “ “ “ 1862, ---	231,256 29
Total values for 1862-64, -----	$4,030,441 30

GENERAL SUMMARY OF WORK AND DISTRIBUTION FOR 1864.

Boxes of hospital stores and publications distributed during the year, -----	47,103
Value of stores distributed, -----	$1,714,261 85
Value of publications distributed, -----	446,574 26
Value of stationary distributed, -----	24,834 71
Value of 205 chapels and chapel-tents erected during last winter and the present, in the various armies, -----	114,359 78
Number of Bibles and Testaments and portions of Scriptures distributed during the year, -----	569,594
Number of hymn and psalm books distributed during the year, -----	489,247
Number of bound library-books distributed during the year, -----	33,872
Number of magazines and pamphlets distributed during the year, -----	346,536
Number of religious, weekly, and monthly newspapers distributed during the year, -----	7,990,758
Number of pages of tracts, -----	13,681,342
Number of "Silent Comforter," etc., -----	3,691
Delegates commissioned during the year, -----	2,217
Aggregate number of days of delegate service, -----	78,869
Average number of delegates constantly in field during the year, -----	217
Number of delegates now in the field, -----	276
Balance of cash on hand at the Central office, January 1, 1865, -----	$5,420 12

Education in the United States.

A near approximation to the annual amount expended in the United States for education, and to the number of students enjoying its benefits, may be stated as follows :

	Scholars.	Cost.
Common schools, -----	5,211,000	$23,461,000
Private schools, academies, etc.,----	600,000	20,000,000
Colleges, -----	20,000	5,000,000
Theological seminaries,-----	4,120	1,000,000
Medical schools, -----	7,000	1,400,000
Law schools, -----	1,300	260,000
Normal schools,-----	2,740	500,000
Scientific schools, -----	1,500	400,000
Blind, deaf, etc.,-----	7,850	1,177,500
Total cost,-----		$53,198,500

The amount of funds for common schools held by the several states, of which the new states hold the chief share, is over $50,000,000 ; while the endowments of colleges, theological seminaries, and other professional schools, cannot be less than $8,000,000 more.

The consumption of school-books is enormous. A few items will give some idea of it : The annual sale of Mitchell's geographies, including all the series, is 600,000 ; Smith's English grammar, 120,000 ; Town & Holbrook's text-books, 500,000 ; Goodrich's Pictorial Histories, 110,000 ; Cornell's geographies, 250,000 ; Thompson's arithmetics, 150,000 ; Colton & Fitch's geographies, 120,000 ; Webster's spelling-books, 1,500,000, etc. If we include hymn-books, question-books, and library-books, at least 2,000,000 are consumed annually by the Sunday-schools of the United States. The number of school-books of kinds consumed annually, both in Sabbath-schools and week-day schools, must be somewhere between seven and ten millions of volumes. To this we may add, that in the elementary studies no nation in the world has produced more excellent text-books. They are far superior to those in Great Britain in accuracy, attractiveness, and adaptation to the advanced state of public opinion in regard to primary education.

College Benefactions.

LIBERALITY UNPARALLELED TO THE LITERARY INSTITUTIONS OF OUR LAND.

We clip the following statement from an account of the annual meeting of the Western College Society, as found in the Independent.

"It was stated that the five colleges whose pressing wants gave origin to this society, had all now become so strong as to need no further aid from Eastern communities. Beloit, Marietta, and Wabash have received their endowments within the past year. The colleges now needing aid are mostly situated west of the Mississippi.

"During the last two years—a period of war—during which our enemies here and in Europe confidently predicted our national ruin, a most wonderful liberality has been developed towards our institutions of learning. The following are some of the marvellous figures :

"Bowdoin College, Maine, has received $72,000, of which $50,000 were in one donation.

“Dartmouth College, N. H., has received $47,000.

“Middlebury College, Vt., has received $10,000 from a legacy.

“Williams College has received $25,000 in one donation.

“Amherst College has received more than $100,000 in sums of $60,000, $34,000, and $20,000 each.

“Harvard College has received a bequest of $44,000.

“Andover Theolog. Seminary has received $50,000, of which $30,000 were from one firm.

“Trinity College, Hartford, Ct., has received nearly $100,000.

“Yale College has received—including $135,000 from the U. S. government for its agricultural school—the magnificent sum of $450,000, to which perhaps $100,000 will probably soon be added. The report states that of the portion already paid, the following sums have been given by individuals in single donations: namely, $85,000, $50,000, $30,000, $27,000, $25,000, $20,000, $12,000.

“New York University has received $60,000.

“Hamilton College over $100,000.

“Rutgers' College, N. J., has received $100,000.

“Princeton College, N. J., $130,000, of which $30,000 is in a single donation.

“Washington University, St. Louis, $50,000 in two donations of $25,000 each—one from New York, the other from Boston.

“Chicago Theological Seminary has received $80,000.

“Protestant College in Syria, $103,000 from American Christians.

“Lafayette College, Pa., $35,000.

“Take notice, Englishmen, who have been predicting that, without your gracious aid, our war with slavery would bring upon us desolation, poverty, famine, and rags; take notice, gentlemen of the ‘chivalry,’ who declare that the Yankee loves nothing but his dollar, and is incapable of the generosity of men who steal their money from ‘niggers;’ take notice, all faint-hearted, faithless people, who have been sighing and groaning through all these years of this glorious war for right and freedom—take notice that, in the third year of this ‘exhausting’ war, no less than one million and six hundred thousand dollars—and the real truth would put it nearer two millions—have been cheerfully and almost spontaneously given, not to Sanitary and Christian Commissions, or to any object which might seem immediately pressing, but to colleges—to learning—to the laying of foundations for future generations. Where will such a fact find its parallel in history?”

Miscellany.

The religion of Jesus Christ is a vast remedial system, made up of many mighty forces, and containing within itself capacities of adaptation and adjustment to every phase of the world's progress and to every necessity of individual life. These mighty forces are to some extent dormant, and they must be awakened into action, and the outlying field around the church must be tilled by all the agencies which God has placed in our power. To develop these inner forces, and to cultivate this outer field, is the bounden duty of this age and this church.

BUSINESS A MEANS OF GRACE.

Instead of business becoming a feeder to covetousness under the promptings of nature, it must become a stimulus to benevolence under the promptings of grace. Dr. Hawes, in his biography of Norman Smith, a merchant in his congregation, says he never grew in grace more rapidly, or shone brighter as a Christian, than during the last six or seven years of his life, when he had the greatest amount of business on his hands. From the time when he devoted all to God, and resolved to pursue his business as a part of his religion, he found no tendency in his worldly engagements to chill his piety or enchain his affections to earth. His business became to him a means of grace, and helped him forward in the divine life, just as truly as reading the Scriptures and prayer. He was a shining example of one who is "diligent in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord."

FINISH THY WORK.

Finish thy work, the time is short ;
The sun is in the west ;
The night is coming down—till then
Think not of rest.

Yes, finish all thy work, then rest ;
Till then, rest never ;
The rest prepared for thee by God
Is rest for ever.

Finish thy work, then wipe thy brow ;
Ungird thee from thy toil ;
Take breath, and from each weary limb
Shake off the soil.

Finish thy work, then sit thee down
On some celestial hill,
And of its strength-reviving air
Take thou thy fill.

Finish thy work, then go in peace ;
Life's battle fought and won,
Hear from the throne the Master's voice,
"Well done! well done!"

Finish thy work, then take thy harp,
Give praise to God above ;
Sing a new song of mighty joy
And endless love.

Give thanks to him who held thee up
In all thy path below,
Who made thee faithful unto death,
And crowns thee now.

EIGHT TO SIXTEEN.

Lord Shaftesbury recently stated, in a public meeting in London, that, from personal observation, he had ascertained that of adult male criminals of that city, nearly all had fallen into a course of crime between the ages of eight and sixteen years; and that, if a young man lived an honest life up to twenty years of age, there were forty-nine chances in favor, and only one against him, as to an honorable life thereafter.

This is a fact of singular importance to fathers and mothers, and shows a fearful responsibility. Certainly a parent should secure and exercise absolute control over the child under sixteen. It cannot be a difficult matter to do this, except in very rare cases; and if that control is not very wisely and efficiently exercised, it must be the parents' fault; it is owing to the parental neglect or remissness. Hence the real source of ninety-eight per cent. of the real crime in a country such as England or the United States, lies at the door of the parents. It is a fearful reflection. We throw it before the minds of the fathers and mothers of our land, and there leave it to be thought of in wisdom, remarking only as to the early seeds of bodily disease, that they are, in nearly every case, sown between sundown and bedtime, in absence from the family circle, in the supply of spending-money never earned by the spender, opening the doors of confectionaries and soda-fountains, of beer and tobacco and wine shops, of the circus, the negro minstrel, the restaurant, and dance; then follows the Sunday excursion, the Sunday drive, with the easy transition to the company of those whose ways lead to the gates of social, physical, and moral ruin. From eight to sixteen, in these few years, are the destinies of children fixed, in forty-nine cases out of fifty—fixed by the parents. Let every father and mother solemnly vow, "By God's help, I'll fix my darling's destiny for good, by making home more attractive than the streets."

LIVE TO DO GOOD.

Live to do good, but not with thought to win

From man return of any kindness done,

Remember Him who died on cross for sin,

The merciful, the meek, rejected One :

When he was slain for crime of doing good,

Canst thou expect return of gratitude?

Do good to all ; but while thou servest best,

And at thy greatest cost, nerve thee to bear,

When thine own heart with anguish is oppressed,

The cruel taunt, the cold, averted air,

From lips which thou hast taught in hope to pray,

And eyes whose sorrows thou hast wiped away.

Still do thou good, but for His holy sake

Who died for thine ; fixing thy purpose ever

High as his throne, no wrath of man can shake ;

So shall he own thy generous endeavor,

And take thee to his conqueror's glory up,

When thou hast shared the Saviour's bitter cup.

Do naught but good ; for such the noble strife

Of virtue is, 'gainst wrong to venture love,

And for thy foe devote a brother's life,

Content to wait the recompense above ;

Brave for the truth, to fiercest insult meek,

In mercy strong, in vengeance only weak.

THE TORN TRACT.

Legh Richmond, in walking up a hill to relieve the horses of the coach in which he was travelling, distributed several tracts to such persons as he chanced to meet. One was received, and torn in two and thrown upon the ground. A fellow-traveller smiled, and said,

"See how your tract is treated : there is one, at least, quite lost."

"I am not so sure of that," said Mr. Richmond ; "at any rate, the husbandman sows not the less that some of the seeds may be trodden down."

Reaching the top of the hill, and turning round to view the scenery, they saw that the wind had carried the torn tract over into the field among the haymakers, and that one of them was reading it to the others. The devil had done his work imperfectly, as the two parts of the tract were held together by a thread ; and in hindering one man from reading it, he had introduced it to a whole company. The reader of the tract was led to reflection and prayer, and became an earnest Christian and tract distributor. Three others soon became diligent laborers in the Master's vineyard.

Pass the tracts along ; they will not be lost.

HOW TO LIVE.

He liveth long who liveth well ;
All other life is short and vain.
He liveth longest who can tell
Of living most for heavenly gain.

Waste not thy being ; back to Him
 Who freely gave it, freely give ;
 Else is that being but a dream :
 'Tis but to BE, and not to LIVE.

Be wise and use thy wisdom well :
 Who wisdom speaks must LIVE it too ;
 He is the wisest who can tell
 How first he lived, then spoke, the true.

Be what thou seemest ; live thy creed ?
 Hold up to earth the torch divine :
 Be what thou prayest to be made ;
 Let the great Master's steps be thine.

Fill up each hour with what will last ;
 Buy up the moments as they go ;
 The life above, when this is past,
 Is the ripe fruit of life below.

Sow TRUTH, if thou the TRUE wouldst reap ;
 Who sows the false shall reap the vain ;
 Erect and sound thy conscience keep ;
 From hollow words and deeds refrain.

Sow LOVE and taste its fruitage, pure ;
 Sow PEACE, and reap its harvest, bright ;
 Sow sunbeams on the rock and moor,
 And find a harvest-home of light.

Rev. Dr. Bonar

THE TRIUMPH OF CHRISTIANITY.

Millions of men, I know, are still idolaters ; millions of men are still Mohammedans ; and millions more still worship Brahma and Buddha. But a single Christian nation of Western Europe outweighs them all. When these millions will begin, in large numbers, to accept the gospel, we cannot tell ; but we know that they need the gospel, for they are men. And we know too that, sooner or later, they must receive it at our hands. Where the gospel once went, winning its victories, it can go again. In the vast strategy of the Christian centuries of conflict, Asia and Africa were indeed abandoned for a time, but our troops are returning to contest anew the ancient fields of victory, and already enough has been accomplished to make us confident in regard to the final issue.

What we need now first, and most of all, is a better Christendom. Three hundred and thirty-five millions of mankind now answer the Christian roll-call, and they hold in their hands every art, every science, and nearly every resource of strength, in existence upon the globe. Their lands are filled with plenty, and their commerce whitens every sea. Already they clasp the round earth in their stalwart arms, and it only remains for them to lift it up and lay it upon the bosom of its Lord.

Rev. R. D. Hitchcock, D. D.

EXCELLENCY OF CHRIST.

“He is a path, if any be misled ;
He is a robe, if any naked be ;
If any chance to hunger, he is bread ;
If any be a bondman, he is free ;
If any be but weak, how strong is he !
To dead men life he is, to sick men health ;
To blind men sight, and to the needy wealth ;
A pleasure without loss, a treasure without stealth.”

WORK FOR ALL.

There is not a single member of a single church, male or female, young or old, rich or poor, but should be engaged in personal efforts for the conversion of souls. Our army may as rationally leave the battle to be fought by the officers alone, as the church leave the conversion of the world to the ministers of the gospel. Indeed, it is a fundamental error to consider it a merely ministerial work. The work of saving souls is as truly and as legitimately within the reach of the pious pauper in the work-house, or the godly child in the Sunday-school, or the religious servant in a family, as within the grasp of the most eminent preacher. The church in its entire membership is the "royal priesthood," proclaiming salvation to a lost world, and winning back souls to the bosom of redeeming love.

KINDNESS TWICE BLESSED.

I can imagine hardly any thing more useful to a young man of an active and a powerful mind, advancing rapidly in knowledge, and with high distinction either actually obtained or close in prospect, than to take him—or much better, that he should go of himself—to the abodes of poverty and sickness and old age. Every thing there is a lesson; in every thing Christ speaks, and the Spirit of Christ is ready to convey to his heart all that he witnesses. Accustomed to all the comforts of life, and hardly ever thinking what it would be to want them, he sees poverty and all its evils: scanty room, and too often scanty fuel, scanty clothing, and scanty food. Instead of the quiet and neatness of his own chamber, he finds very often a noise and a confusion which would render deep thought impossible; instead of the stores of knowledge with which his own study is filled, he finds perhaps only a prayer-book and a Bible. Then let him see—and it is no fancied picture, for he will see it often, if he looks for it—how Christ is, to them that serve him, wisdom at once, and sanctification and blessing. He will find, amidst all this poverty, in these narrow, close, and crowded rooms—amidst noise and disorder, and sometimes want of cleanliness also—he will see old age and sickness and labor borne not only with patience, but with thankfulness, through the aid of that Bible and the grace of that Holy Spirit who is its author. He will find that while his language and studies would be utterly unintelligible to those whom he is visiting, yet they, in their turn, have a language and feelings to which he is no less a stranger. And he may think too—and if he does, he may for ever bless the hour that took him there—that in fifty years or less his studies and all concerned with them will have perished for ever, while their language and their feelings, only perfected in the putting off their mortal bodies, will be those of all glorified and all wise spirits, in the presence of God and of Christ.

SAFE INVESTMENT.

He who gives to the Lord, will in the future state have returned to him what he gives with princely interest. There is a weight of meaning in the inscription found in an Italian cemetery: "Here lies Etella, who transported a large fortune to heaven in acts of charity, and has gone thither to enjoy it."

TEMPORAL BLESSINGS.

Wish for them cautiously,
 Ask for them submissively,
 Want them contentedly,
 Obtain them honestly,
 Accept them humbly,
 Manage them prudently,
 Employ them lawfully,
 Impart them liberally,
 Esteem them moderately,
 Increase them virtuously,
 Use them subserviently,
 Forego them easily,
 Resign them willingly.

HINTS FOR TRACT DISTRIBUTERS.

A clergyman of the Church of England, in addressing the Religious Tract Society of London, at its late anniversary, gave the following practical hints to those who strive to do good by distributing tracts.

First, be consistent. The world assumes that a tract distributor has a more than average amount of piety in his own soul, and I think it right that we should set before our minds that high standard. Persons who know you to be tract distributors will examine your life, and you must answer before the bar of their judgment as to whether you are worthy or not. Never be like that rich man of whom I heard the other day, who rode to church in his carriage, and all the while was distributing tracts upon the better observance of the Lord's day; nor like the old lady who rode to chapel—for we must deal fairly with both parties here—who rode to chapel in a cab, and as she paid the driver, gave him a tract. And what do you think was the reply of cabby? "Laws, marm, if it wa'n't for such as you, we should all be at church together." The next point is equally important: be loving, loving in spirit and also in manner. Bishop Middleton once made this trite observation: "Manner is something with everybody, but it is every thing with some. Good intentions are frequently spoiled by harshness of manner." As an illustration of this, I will tell you what happened to myself only a few months ago. I was coming home from church one Sunday morning, and a man handed me a tract. I took it from him, and said, "I am much obliged; I will read it with pleasure. I have, however, just come from church, where I have been preaching." And what was the reply? "O, clergymen need it just as much as other people." Well, I did not doubt that; but still it was not altogether the pleasantest way of putting it. The third point is, be courageous. It is a hard thing to give away tracts at first, especially at fairs. But bravery is the price of glory on all battle-fields, and upon the Christian's battle-field no less than others. A commander once said, in reply to an objection against going to battle because a park of artillery was on the heights, "He that is afraid to march to the mouth of a gun, must leave the field of battle." Therefore I say, be courageous. We are often dealt with by a loving Father far more lovingly than we can expect; and when we have almost feared to present a tract lest we should meet with ill-treatment, He in his providence has worked all for our happiness.

and peace, enabling us to find friends where we expected to meet foes. Fourthly, be thoughtful, thoughtful in the selection of your tract. I once knew a lady who gave to a respectable old moral woman a tract headed in large letters, "Are you a Gin-drinker?" The effect was that all the spirit of the gin came forth without the liquor. The old lady's ire was roused, and of course she took no more tracts. Be thoughtful also in the circulation of your tracts. I heard the other day of a gentleman who, walking through Hyde Park on a Sunday afternoon, had no less than twenty-four tracts thrust into his hand, though each person except the first saw that he had taken some already. Lastly, be prayerful, prayerful before you begin your work, and prayerful during your work, and when it is done; and He who promises never to leave nor forsake you, will stand by you in the hour of trial, and welcome you at the end with the words of welcome, "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter into the joy of your Lord."

OUTCASTS.

Oh, sinned against and sinning,
 How wails my heart for ye,
 While, all in vain, I strive to reach
 Your fate's sad mystery :
 Abject and lost and trampled on,
 With snares and death around you sown.

Why am I here? Why are ye there,
 With such abyss between,
 Parting our mutual destiny?
 Here foliage fresh and green—
 Around your path the scoræ drear,
 And sultry lava, all the year.

Here young fresh violets, roses bloom,
With fruits of heavenly taste,
While deadly nightshade hedges in
Your upas-growing waste ;
And rank weeds shelter slimy things
That crawl about the water-springs.

Why am I here, in free sweet peace,
With deathless hope within,
Borne up by all prevailing Love
Far from the wastes of sin,
While ye, alas, I weep to see
Your footsteps chained to misery ?

Why am I here? O Father, God,
My spirit calls to thee ;
These are thy children ; let me go
And share their misery ;
So I may lift one brother up
To drink from Love's o'erbrimming cup.

SPIRIT OF OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

In Bishop Potter's address before the recent Convention of the New York Diocese, occurs the following passage, which must be very grateful to every true lover of his country. All honor to the loyal and patriotic bishop.

“And now since, in bodying forth an image of self-devotion, thoughts of war and of a struggling country have come rising up with it, let me, in a single word, refer to one part of my experience during the last three years, which to me has been, in these days of sorrow, full of consolation, not a little encouraging to hope. Within three years, often on special occasions and under peculiar circumstances, I have confirmed a large number of officers and soldiers of the army and navy of the United States. They were going to the front, or temporarily returning from it, or, in not a few cases, about to face the last great enemy in the sick-room. Opportunities were often afforded for a good deal of private conversation, and in many instances I had the inexpressible satisfaction of observing what I thought clear indications that the persons whom I met had been made not worse, but better, while perilling their lives in the sacred cause of their country. The fact is no doubt often otherwise. Nevertheless, the observation which I have made is, I believe, more extensively true than we are apt to imagine. But what I designed more particularly to remark, was something quite different. It was the almost universal absence, in those officers and men, of every thing like a violent spirit of faction and party. They were for their country before all things else; for the restoration of peace, order, and unity; for the vindication of the national authority; for the maintenance of the integrity and sovereignty of the one supreme government, without which we cease to be a nation, lose every security for peace and every title to respect, and become the prey of domestic broils and foreign enemies. These gentle but heroic men were little inclined to cavil about subordinate points of difference. They might nominally belong to one party or another; their preferences might incline one way or another on many political questions; but they saw that every thing dear to the heart of a Christian patriot was at stake. They believed that every question of the day, however magnified by excited minds, was utterly insignificant compared with the one present, vital, supreme object of beating down the unhallowed sword of rebellion, and reinstating an insulted and distracted country in her place of strength and glory. God give us all a like spirit. I fully appreciate the evils of war. I sigh and pray for peace, peace in the righteous triumphs of a just government. For great armies and navies I have no especial predilection; but I am sometimes made to feel that there is one place where patriotism—devoted love of country—may survive and burn brightly, even though it should perish everywhere else; and that is among the heroic men who daily face death rather than see that country dismembered, dishonored, and ruined.”

GOD'S SOWER.

He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall DOUBTLESS come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves. PSA. 126 : 6.

Oh scatter wide thy grains,
Thou sower of God's seed ;
Spare no expense of toil or pains,
And never fear to need.

With hand most lavish fling
Thy seed on every soil ;
The sheaves thou “DOUBTLESS” yet shall bring,
Will richly pay thy toil.

Trust God to give thee seed,
Trust God to make it grow ;
For these 't is not thy part to heed,
Thy one work is to sow.

Thy one work is to sow,
Make this thy constant care ;
God's care shall make each grain to grow,
Thou steep'st in tears of prayer.

Then take thy very bread,
If nothing else thou have ;
If better field may not be had,
Cast it upon the wave.

But sow, on all sides sow,
And pray, at all times pray ;
God's grace sure harvest will bestow,
Though at some distant day.

But see to sow God's seed,
Sow nothing of thine own ;
To this attend with trembling heed,
Yet still in faith sow on.

Soon thou shalt laughing come
With sheaves, a priceless load,
And in heaven's endless harvest-home
Shalt taste the joys of God.

A GOLDEN APHORISM.

Gen. Hooker, in his order assuming command of the Department of the North-west, addresses a sentence to his military subordinates which deserves to become one of the golden aphorisms of our country and of the English language. He first announces that he requires energy, earnestness, and fidelity in the performance of duty on the part of every officer and soldier, and then adds, "No one will consider the day as ended until the duties it brings have been discharged." This profound moral remark is applicable not only in the department whose head-quarters are at Cincinnati, not only to those engaged in military duties, but to every man and woman in every sphere of life. Were every one to learn it and put it in daily practice, it would give our national character an elevation, a faithfulness, and a truthfulness now sadly lacking. The sentence ought to be given to all our young boys and girls at school, to write in their copy-books, so that it might be impressed upon their minds, and become of practical power in their lives; and let our preachers at some appropriate time discourse upon this text: "No one will consider the day as ended until the duties it brings have been discharged."

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST.

The church of Christ was designed to represent him on earth, and to minister to all the moral needs of the human race. Her work, then, is not done when she sends out preachers and teachers; when she exhibits sacraments and liturgies; when she sets up churches at home and missions stations abroad. She must grope her way into the alleys and courts and purlieus of the city, and up the broken staircase, and into the bare room, and beside the loathsome sufferer. She must go down into the pit with the miner, into the forecastle with the sailor, into the tent with the soldier, into the shop with the mechanic, into the factory with the operative, into the field with the farmer, into the counting-room with the merchant. Like the air, the church must press equally on all the surfaces of society; like the sea, flow into every nook of the shore-line of humanity; and like the sun, shine on things foul and low as well as fair and high; for she was organized, commissioned, and equipped for the moral renovation of the world.
